GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES.

DEVOTIONS AND CEREMONIES IN THE CHURCHES. Good Friday was observed with much devotion and ceremony in the Roman Catholic and Episcopal churches yesterday. Business was suspended in some parts of the city and the Exchanges were closed. The banks were open, however, for the transaction of business. The shops were generally open. All the public schools were closed.

In the Catholic churches only one service was held in the morning. Every day in the year mass is celebrated, but on Holy Thursday the celebrant of the mass conscerates two hosts one of which is to be us d in the broken service on Good Friday. For this reason the service is called the mass of the presauctified. All the churches were heavily draped in mourning in commemoration of the crucifixion. St. Stephen's in East Twenty-eighth-st., was filled to its utmost capacity when the service was begun at mourning in commemoration of the crucuixion. St. Stephen's in East I'wenty-eighth-st., was filled to its utmost capacity when the service was begun at 9 a. m. Alt the aisles and the standing room in the body of the church were occupied and the gallery doors were closed so that no more could come in. The middle portion of the sanctuary was draped in black and no ornament of any kind was visible on the large altar. The altar on the side of the sanctuary, where the sacrament was placed the day previous, was dressed in the richest colors and adorned wain flowers and lights. Two altar boys in white caesocks watched the repository.

Dr. McGlynn, the pastor, was the celebrant. All the priests wore black vestments. When the service was begun they prostrated themselves in the sanctuary while a linen cloth was spread on the altar. A few lessens were read by the celebrant, and the Passion according to St. John was chanted. A number of prayers followed, in which the celebrant prayed for the Pope, the bishops, priests, deacons, sun-deacons and others connected with the Churce, catechnineus, heretice, schisma ics, Jews and pagains. The response amon was omitted after the prayers for the Jews.

The adoration of the cross was the next feature of the service. Dr. McGlynn removed his outer vestment and took from the altar a large crucitix covered with a veil. Standing on the Epistle side of the altar he uncovered the top of the cross, savine:

Behold the wood of the cross, 'to which the others responded "On which the salvation of the world was hanged," and then the choir answered, "Come, let us adore." This ceremony was gone through twis hanged," in the short was placed on a cushion in the sanctuary and all the clergymen kelt three times before it and then kissed the feet of the image. The worshappers in the church were also given an opportunity to kiss the image by going to the santuary rail. W. A. Symmes, of the City Colored Mission, writes to THE PRIBUNE, under date of March 26, as follows:

" Among the many calls for charity claiming pubhe ttention, perhaps no one is more pressing in its claims than that of the Arkansas refugees who today have come to our city. One hundred and seventeen persons, thirty-two of them children, were found crowded in Durham's Court, in Thirty-thirdst., without protection, without friends, and lacking food. We learn that for two years the heads of these families have been making preparations for an exodus, their hope being to reach Liberia. They are now among us, and their present helplessness and need appeal to the public for sympathy and help. Any contributions of money, food or clothing with be thankfully received at the New-York Colored Mission, No. 135 West Thirfieth-st."

About 100 more colored persons from Arkansas are expected to arrive in this city this morning by the New-York Central Railroad on their way to the New-York Central Railroad on their way to Liberia. These emigrants were not collected under the auspices of the American Colonization Society. Yates & Porterfield, owners of the bark Monrovia, which has taken out hundred of immigrants to Liberia, had heard nothing definite of the party expected to-day, but believed it was in charge of a Mr. Newton, and wes an independent party. It is reported that these persons have a total capital of about $50,000, and will pay their own passage,

METHODIST CONFERENCE AT PATERSON. At the session yesterday of the Newark Annual Methodist Episcopal Conference, at Paterson, the Rev. Jesse S. Gilbert, of Port Richmond, S. I., offered a resolution instructing the delegates who were elected to represent the Conference in the Gen-were elected to represent the Conference in the General Conference, which will meet in Cincinnati, May I, to favor such modification of the church method of presiding elder work as shall, in its main features, make it conform to the English-method. The motion to adopt the resolution was declared carried by Bishop Wiley, but a division was called for and it was then declared lost.

The Conference elected the Rev. Dr. Hurst, president of Drew Theological Seminary, at Madison, N. J., the R. v. James N. Fitzgerald, presiding elder of the Newton District, and the Rev. Dr. D. W. Bartine, of Jersey City, as delegates to the General Conference. A fourth delegate will be elected to-day. The members of the Lay Electoral Conference were introduced in a body, the address of welcome being delivered by Bisnop Wiley. James McGeg, the chairman of the Lay Conference, and George J. Ferry responded on the part of the laity. The Lay Electoral College elected Jacob C. Allen, of Hackettstown, and Dr. T. Y. Kinne, of Paterson, as its representatives in the General Conference.

The Rev. Edson W. Burr, of Jersey City, delivered the annual missionary sermon in the afternoon. Last evening the anniversary of the Conference Educational Society was celebrated, the addresses being made by Bishop Wiley and tha Rev. Dr. Buttz, one of the professors in Drew Theological Seminary.

REMOVAL OF THE QUARANTINE OFFICE.

The office of the Quarantine Commission will be

There will also be some exhibitions of trained horses by those interested in the success of the school. The exhibition is undoubtedly well worth observation. Admittance is only by invitation.

PEACE IN THE FACTORIES. PIANOMAKERS JUBILANT OVER THEIR SUCCESS-

SCENES AT THE STEINWAY SHOPS. Peace was made yesterday between Steinway & Sons and their striking employés, and the latter agreed to return to work on Monday afternoon Both parties to the contest, which has lasted with the terms of settlement, and both agree in their statements as to what those terms were. employés met in private at Turtle Bay Hall in the morning and had read to them the letter of William Steinway published yesterday. A committee of five iam Steinway were waiting to hear from the men, and stated that the offer of the firm was satisfactory in every particular, and that the only thing that prevented immediate acceptance was the unwillingafter taking a leading part in bringing about the strike, had deserted their companions as soon as it

William Steinway replied that he had himself, by personal solicitation, induced five of the seven to work, promising to protect them, and that, therefore, nuder no circumstances, could be consent to their discharge, but if the charges against the other two were substantiated, they would be discharged. Witnesses were brought, and it was proven beyond a and a varnisher named Steinhofer, of the Astoria factory, bad been loud in urging the strike. Flesse, who once had been a shoemaker and had been taught planomaking by the present superintendent of Steinway & Sons, wanted the men to ask for an advance of 15 per cent, and the discharge of both the superintendent and bookkeeper. When the strike actually began. Flesse and Steinhofer deserted their fellows. Flesse was confronted with the witnesses to his conduct and virtually confessed. He was then discharged. The committee, however, said to Mr. Steinway that, as Flesse and Steinhofer were both men far advanced in years and had families depending upon them, they were longer asked for. William Steinway expressed himself as delighted with this generosity on the part of the men and told Flesse to thank the committee for withdrawing the request for his discharge. These facts were reported to the meeting at Turtle Bay Hall and the men voted to go to work at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. then and there forgiven and their discharge was no

MISS GREENE'S ACROBATIC FEATS. SHE TAKES POSSESSION OF HER HOUSE WITH A LAD-DER AND REVOLVER.

Another scene of a somewhat dramatic character was enacted on Thursday in West New-Rochelle, at the residence of Miss Fanny S. Greene, the ward of David Jones, the millionaire brewer. Miss Greene, attended by her counsel, I. N. Mills, and the two carmen whom she had employed to remove her personal property from the place, was present in Police Justice Keene's Court, ready to meet the charge of assault committed by the carmen upon Mr. Roelker, the bookkeeper of Mr. Jones, John J. Jones, who had been authorized to take charge of the property at West New-Rochelle, was advised by Martin J. Keogh to withdraw the complaint against the carmen, and to resort to a little strategy to gain possession of the Park Place residence.

While Miss Greene was waiting in court Constable Kelly proceeded to the house, but found it in pos session of Officer Henninger in behalf of Miss officer to give him permission to enter the house, and then he locked all the doors and put the keys in his pocket, at the same time informing Henomeer that he must leave the place unless he consented to assist in keeping possession for Mr. Jones. This Henninger consented to do. On the return of Miss Greene with her counsel, carmen and others, they found the doors closed against them, and they were refused admission with derisive laughter. Miss Greene was not so easily baffled, and while her trueds occupied the attention of the officers by warning them of their liability in the matter, she caused a ladder to be brought and placed against an extension of the main building. Then directing the men to go to the other side of the house, she hurriedly ascended the ladder and effected an entrance through a window into her own bedroom, from which she passed down stairs. Officer Kelly made a movement as if to go to her room, when Miss Greene drew a revolver and threatened to shoot him on the spot if he attempted to enter the room. She then opened the aoor, and her attendants, may in number, entered, and proved too formidable for the officers to oppose. They accordingly left the premises in possession of Miss Greene. She was subsequently invited to call at the office of Mr. Keogh to come to an understanding, and she did so.

It was finally agreed that she should be allowed to remove the personal property which she had claimed, while on her part she consented to leave the Park Place house in five days. Miss Greene claims an interest in the Park Brewery, and says that she intends to insist on the maintenance of her rights to the property.

"The Constellation will sail at high tide Satur-day morning," said Commander Potter, " and we shall wait in the Narrows for a fair wind." The following order was received from the De-partment at Washington yesterday:

NAVY DEPARTMENT, WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25, 1880.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25, 1880.

Commander E. E. Potter, Commanding Constellation, Nary Yard, New-York.

Sir: So soon as her cargo is on board, you will proceed in command of the Constellation to Dublin, in Ireland, and there deliver the cargo to The Herald Relief Committee, for distribution at their discretion. You will make known to the committee that this cargo of provisions is contributed by a few generous-hearted citizens of the United States to relive the wants of the sufficing people in Ireland, whose condition has aroused extraordinary sympathy in the American mind. Congress, in obedience to this sympathy, has decided that these gifts shall be conveyed on board a National man-of-war, and I have designated the Constellation for that purpose. I am sure it will be a more agreeable duty to you to take her without her gons upon this mission of peace and benevolence, than to command her upon a warlike expedition. Your visit will enable the people of Ireland to realize that "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war," and that in this age these victories do more to create amicable relations between the people of different nationalities and to draw them closer together than the roar of hattle. Very respectfully.

He was scated on a bench in the shop stitching a coat Thursday, when Harris Levy, another workman, came to from his supper. Levy, who is seventeen years old and fond of frolic, saw an old navy revolver lying on a shelf in the shop. The revolver was old and rusty. The caps on the tubes were black-ned with age, so that to an inexperienced person the weapon did not appear to be loaded. Levy took up the revolver and said to Newman, "Look out. This old thing may explode."

As he spoke he turned the muzzle of the weapon toward Newman and pulled the fringer. To his surprise, as he afterward said, the pistel was declared, and Newman fell lack on the bench with a groan. The builet had struck him in the right eye, and had entered the brain.

The police were summoned, and the wounded German was sent to Bellevine Hospital unconsclous and apparently dying. The surgeons at the hospital said that the wound would probably prove fatal in a few hours. Levy, who lives at No. 31 Ludlow-st, was arrested and locked up in the Eldridge Street Police Station. Mr. Rappeort and a little girl named Flora Brilliant, who were witnesses of the shooting, both said that Levy and Newman had not quarrelled, and that Levy could not have intended to kill his courade. At Newman's house, No. 36 Essex-st, his wife lay ill instalight. She had been up noor health some time and the news of her husband's misfortune prostrated her. It was said that she had no friends or relations beside her husband in this country.
